2. We do not believe we could interest one of the [REDACTED] in spending time working in this Agency while receiving a [REDACTED] grant. It would only be after the fellow had completed his research project that it might be possible to interest him in coming with the Agency for a tour of duty. However, because in many cases the fellowship requires an absence from the University for research in a foreign country, most of the academic personnel concerned would probably not be interested in an Agency offer. The reason for this is that they just completed a tour away from their regular academic position and it would only be in an unusual circumstance where the University would look kindly on an additional absence from one to two years.

3. We expect to pursue the possibility of a rotational program with academic scholars and hope that it will be possible to secure the cooperation of some University facilities. If this can be done the spirit of the memorandum from the Director of Personnel will have been complied with.
